

POINTS TO PONDER:

Heaven would be an absolute impossibility were it not for the gift of Christ's sacrifice on the cross. If God never does anything more then redeem us, He has already done far more than we deserve. (see Psalm 103:10; Rom 6:23; 2 Cor 9:15)

Be Still

Phrases short enough to fit on a bumper sticker usually get our attention. This is especially true if they are humorous, ask a deep question, or promote serious thought. God's word contains some short phrases which are replete with significance and meaning. These get our attention and inspire earnest thought and sober meditation. One such phrase is found in Psalm 46:10, "Be still, and know that I am God."

If casually read, the value of this short Bible phrase may escape us. We may hastily respond that we most certainly understand that God is God, and we may freely admit that we don't really like being "still" for very long. And, after "being still" just long enough to read the verse, we move on – perhaps missing much of what God is trying to teach us.

The New American Standard Bible translates the verse this way: "Cease striving, and know that I am God." It also has a marginal note which helps to bring out the deeper meaning of the Hebrew words used here. To "be still," to "cease striving," includes the idea of "letting go," or "relaxing." Are you beginning to see what our Heavenly Father is trying to teach us?

The second part of the phrase "know that I am God," has to do with trust. The Random House College Dictionary defines trust as: "belief in and reliance on the integrity, strength, ability, surety, etc., of a person or thing." That is, we are to be confident of God's ability to function as God, and of His willingness to act in our behalf (Hebrews 11:6).

We are to be convinced and convicted of the fact that God is who He claims to be (God), that is He is sovereign – He is over all, through all and in all (Ephesians 4:6). In other words, God is in control!

The challenge for you and me is to effectively turn control of our situation (i.e. our life) over to God. But just how is this done? While it is not easy, this is accomplished by diligently applying the truth found in the beginning of the verse.

So, allow me to summarize what we've learned and clarify the deep truth found in this passage. Thus saith the Lord: "Be still...cease striving...calm down...relax...let go...and know that I am God...turn control of your life situation over to Me...and let Me be God!" Amen!
