Sometimes It's Just Not Easy Being Me!

There once was a man who was "fed up" with his friend and proceeded to tell him off. "I've had it with you! You're selfish, self-centered, egotistical, arrogant, bull-headed and just plain hard to get along with!" To which the friend replied, "Well, how do you think I feel? I have to live with myself!"

Truer words were never spoken! All of us have personality quirks, faults, idiosyncrasies and other unflattering characteristics that we would rather not have and would like to change. But, try as we might, these defects tend to persist, and we are seemingly stuck with them. And not only do we have to live with ourselves, but others have to live with us too!

Because we all share in these flaws of humanity, it is so important that we in the body of Christ take seriously the teaching found in places like Colossians 3:13-14: "Bear with each other and forgive whatever grievances you may have against one another. Forgive as the Lord forgave you. And over all these virtues put on love, which binds them all together in perfect unity."

Knowing ourselves as we do will help us to be more loving, forgiving and tolerant of others—especially our brothers and sisters in Christ. We all appreciate those who give us the benefit of the doubt and graciously exhibit a non-critical spirit of understanding when we mess up. The fact is, we all make mistakes and we all have our flaws and weaknesses. But the good news is, "if we walk in the light, as He is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, His Son, purifies us from all sin" (1 John 1:7).

And, although we're often discouraged by our many shortcomings, we can take heart that as grow and mature in Christ, God is able to turn these weaknesses into strengths—for our benefit and for His glory! (2 Corinthians 3:18; Phil 1:6).
